- Freedom in Print -

Profiles

We'll highlight someone here. This is Rocket. He's almost Six.

Pets, Favorite Things...

Photos or stories about your pets or other important parts of your life.

Arts & Crafts

Maybe your work is for sale. Maybe it's just fun, creative or social commentary.

LAYING THE GROUNDWORK:

“Dirt” Doesn’t Imply “Gossip” Here... it’s for Playing, Using and Appreciating. Ya Dig?

Each month we'll feature some photo or art that corresponds with a little blurb. Maybe the micro-articles will be informational, maybe creative, maybe opinion, maybe all that. Send messages and any accompanying photos to LibertyDirtOnline@gmail.com . This Newsletter aims to better connect us, all.

WHERE & WHY

Online & In Print, because Community is everywhere, now.

Here's where we write about what's on our mind. Remember, this is Liberty Dirt's FIRST issue. We're just getting the ball rolling.

Back to School...Work... Life (Home, Virtual, In-Person) What Have You Learned...About Yourself?

Anyone who's been conscious since March 2020 has likely learned a lot about themselves. Let's explore that for a moment...

Maybe you blacked a lot of it out. There was a solid Seven Months or so of no "traditional" school or work. Did that make you a de facto Home Schooler? A Home-Office Freelancer? Did you thrive? Did you weaken? Did you suddenly have a "bubble" of neighborhood kids or friends that you froze time with? Did you Zoom to learn, teach or work? Did you do arts & crafts that you hadn't thought about since you were a kid?

“[T]here is plenty of damage and negative change to navigate, let's be real.”

If we wanna be optimistic (I'd rather that path, though there is plenty of damage and negative change to navigate, let's be real) - values were strengthened, old-timey experiments were re-visited. Families paused with each other and saw themselves more clearly. Sure, many people lost what they had built, stressed to the max, broke down... but slowly things are rebuilding. Right? What do you think? How are you doing? Better? Better than ever? If you are an individual that is still broken - maybe someone here can help. Share a story and let's all connect.

HISTORY CORNER (OOOOH, THAT CAN BE MESSY). SCIENCE (JURY'S STILL OUT)... MATH?

What's $5+5+11+2$? This isn't a trick question. Let's just fire up our brains.

Thought of the Month You might think you're too old for TikTok; but maybe you're not. You could learn something. You could see the modern world through a modern lens...And if it's the Chinese Government you fear... How many User Agreements have you blindly Ok'd? Navigate Safely but don't knock what you don't Really understand.

Who is ‘Thy Neighbor’ ?

Do you have real people to talk to? Can you make a conscious effort to have a meaningful exchange on a semi-regular basis with someone or a handful of someones? If not - do you have an Online community; a Facebook Group? Some Twitter thread... your followers or an accessible role model? Get deep. Get personal. Doesn't mean they have to 'know all your dirt' - but give them something; good suggestions, a good laugh... give them and yourself the glorious, satiating reminder of what human connection can be. Use your powers for good.

Profile: Rocket, Age Almost Six. He has Instagram, likes Sonic the Hedgehog, Super Mario Anything... lots of other young kid stuff. Plays hockey, goes to school and is a sweet and goofy kid.

Pet: That's Buckley. He's a couple months old. He likes to chew stuff, go on short walks. He's growing a beard.

Art: A cute 7 year old did that drawing, she calls it "Be Cool" - and has started her own t-shirt business. When asked if the Big Cone was "Being Cool" by helping the little scoop... "No" she laughed, "I just forgot to draw the small cone."

Issue One, "Numero Uno", 10 September 2021
